Murray will shortly vote on a bond proposition to establish a municipal lighting plant.

Four hundred spitters in New York City were fined in one day for violating the anti-spit law.

Architects' plans for a McCracken county tuberculosis sanatorium, to cost from $4,000 to $5,000, have been accepted.

The gizzard of a hen killed at Princeton, Ind., belonging to George Tichenor, contained a diamond ring worth $125, a pearl and a gold chain 15 inches long.

It turned out that Villa was not captured by Carranza troops, but married a new wife. If she is a typical female greaser, one is about as bad as the other.

A bill pending at Frankfort seeks to impose a fine of $1 on any one who smokes a cigarette in or near a school house or church. Why not let it include printing offices?

The paragraphs are having a great deal to say about Congressman "Cyclone" Davis, of Texas, who will not wear a collar. It is not so bad to have a Congressman with no-body's collar around his neck.

The Cadiz Record has figured it out that there are seven members of the general assembly whose names are the same as names of counties.
Trigg, Lewis, Green, Montgomery, Johnson and Perry are some of them.

Mrs. Cora Wilson Stewart has been invited by the Senate to make a speech Feb. 17 and our own John C.
Duffy will probably have to put ice-pads on his ears. When widows meet widower then comes the tug of war.

The anti-pass bill passed in the Senate contains this provision: "Provided, however, that nothing contained herein shall prevent the bona fide exchange of transportation for newspaper advertising actually contracted for."

Senator Rogers, of Todd county, has introduced a bill to submit a constitutional amendment providing that poll tax shall be paid as a qualification for voting. This would mean many thousands of dollars to the state and incidentally would put a quietus on the suffragette foolishness. Good bill, Senator. Put it through.

The administration anti-pass bill, amended so as to exempt newspapers from its provisions, passed the senate Friday by a vote of twenty-seven to seven. Action upon the measure followed a debate of four hours, featured by the persistent efforts of many senators to make its provisions less drastic. The act, if concurred in by the house, will become effective Jan. 1, 1917. The administration leaders withdrew from their position on that feature of the bill which had aroused the heated opposition of Kentucky's rural newspapers. The amendment cancelling this feature of the bill was offered by Senator Stricklett himself, author of the measure. It was adopted after determined opposition.

Wrong Term.

"The doctor told me there was a great deal of humor in this sore hand of mine." "Well, what of it?" "I told him I didn't think it was funny."

BEST OF LIGHT LITERATURE

Host of Good Books That Will Take the Middle-Aged Back to Their Childhood Days.

Like Grandfather William, we delight, upon occasion, to retire to "the green, enchanted forest" of boy-hood. One of the quickest short cuts leads back via fairy tales. It is a pity more grown-ups do not know this. In the field of light literature, fairy tales should stand pre-eminent; for they are light of heart, and not, like frothy novels, merely light of substance.

What fresh charms we discover when we pick up Grimm's again after a neglect of twenty years! Nuggets of immortal characterization glitter beside the path: The musician ent of Bremen, "with a face like three rainy days!" The Valiant Little Tailor—"his heart fluttered with joy, like a lambkin's tail." And don't you remember young Alice, Alice, who was so clever that her mother declared "she could see the wind blow up the street, and hear the flies cough!"

If you sigh for a recess from war news, why not try some genuine light literature—the Poor Miller's Boy and the Cat, Little Snow White, Hansel and Gretel, Cinderella, Red Riding Hood or the King of the Golden Mountain? Retire to the enchanted forest again, to "the olden days when to wish was to have."

For Rheumatism.

As soon as an attack of Rheumatism begins apply Sloan's Liniment.
Don't waste time and suffer unnecessary agony. A few drops of Sloan's Liniment on the affected part is all you need. The pain goes at once.

A grate sufferer writes:—"I was suffering for three weeks with Chronic Rheumatism and Stiff Neck, although I tried many medicines, they failed, and I was under the care of a doctor. Fortunately I heard of Sloan's Liniment and after using it three or four days am up and well.
I am employed at the biggest department store in S. F. where they employ from six to eight hundred hands, and they surely will hear all about Sloan's Liniment H. B.
Smith, San Francisco, Cal.—Jan.
1915. At all Druggists.—Advertisement.

Excellent Substitute.

In the good old days which poets praise there were in the average village few bathtubs and not many calendars. But the absence of the former made up in a measure for the paucity of the latter. Any prominent citizen going home in the evening and noticing the residence of one of our first families trembling like the fabled aspen, would readily recognize the symptoms. He would know beyond the peradventure of a doubt that the time was Saturday night and the cause was Elihu or Irving or Zach enduring his weekly bath by the kitchen stove, standing up in a tub and shivering until the whole house shook, while he gave himself a lick and a promise.—Kansas City Star.

Life in a Nutshell.

"Stop, look, listen." A reflective man was reading this railroad sign.
"Those three words illustrate the whole scheme of life," said he. "As to how?" "You see a pretty girl. You stop. You look. After you marry her you listen."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A lazy liver leads to chronic dyspepsia and constipation—weakens the whole system. Doan's Regulets (25c per box) act mildly on the liver and bowels. At all drug stores.

We All Know That.

"Your dad is an old crank," said the youth who had been told by her father that 11 o'clock was time to go.
Dad overheard the remark. "A crank is necessary in case of the lack of a self-starter," he retorted.

Worth While Quotation.

"The question for each man to settle is not what he would do if he had more time, influence and educational advantages, but what he will do with the things he has."—Selected.

She Stayed in Bed.

Ingram, Tex.—"Ever since I became a woman," writes Mrs. E. M.
Evans, of this place, "I suffered from womanly troubles. Last fall I got so bad, I had to stay in bed for nearly a week every month. Since I have taken Cardui, I feel better than I have for years." You can rely on Cardui. It acts on the womanly organs and helps the system to regain its normal state of health.
In a natural way. Prepared especially for women, it prevents womanly pains, by acting on the cause, and builds up womanly strength in a natural way. Purely vegetable.
Mild, but certain in action. Try it.

pelled to take a part. No intelligent person can ignore such issues.

The Presidential contest also will soon be at hand. Already candidates for the nomination are in the field, and the campaign owing to the extraordinary character of the times, will be of supreme interest. No other newspaper will inform you with the promptness and cheapness of the York World.

Cost of Dress in Days of Old.

We have wandered away from the old plan of making gowns last for generations; but, then, the brocades were simply everlasting, says a fashion correspondent. Nor do we demand of our clothes that they should serve from season to season; we can have no standbys. We read in the chronicles of old families of some rich dresses lasting a lifetime and descending to a daughter. Elizabeth, the virgin queen, introduced much extravagance in costume which the chroniclers did not forget and rather amplified. But none of the Stuart queens left, as did Queen Bess, one hundred gowns and more in her wardrobe of hand-woven and exquisite materials, richly embroidered, with jewels intermixed.
